

Barriers & Screens

Many companies and public organisations are now implementing bomb blast protection in response to government initiatives for the protection of people in public spaces.

In response to this requirement, Trueform has developed a range of security and anti terrorism products and patented specialist bomb blast protection systems in order to help maintain safety and security, dramatically minimising disruption should a terrorist attack occur.