

Canning Town Station

Canning Town is part of a transport interchange. The station itself is of an unusual design, with the DLR platforms above the Jubilee Line platforms forming a 'double-deck' structure. There are also platforms for the DLR extension to Stratford International, and a bus station from which runs a shuttle to London City Airport.